

Time for war - Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the path to Pearl Harbor

Prentice Hall Press - New York Trails

Description: -

-

Labor unions and communism -- Great Britain.

United States -- Foreign relations -- 1933-1945

World War, 1939-1945 -- Causes

Roosevelt, Franklin D. 1882-1945time for war - Franklin Delano

Roosevelt and the path to Pearl Harbor

-time for war - Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the path to Pearl Harbor

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 427-442) and index.

This edition was published in 1991

Filesize: 47.44 MB

Tags: #Watch #FDR

Watch FDR

When Roosevelt picked up the phone to receive news that the assault had begun, an aide noticed that his hand was trembling.

Watch FDR

He was leading the free world against Adolf Hitler and it wasn't at all clear that we were going to win.

New York Trails

There was a sense of fright, a sense of horror. Alistair Cooke, Journalist: We had an army the size of the army of Sweden. Roosevelt: Let me thank you again and tell you that I hope to see you all very soon and bid you an affectionate good night.

Watch FDR

My father had brought his paints, and he played truant from the war for two days, and he painted the only picture from his brush in the whole of the war. Edna Gurewitsch, Roosevelt Family Friend: It was a marked turning point in her life. Roosevelt: In this year 1942, we shall produce 60,000 planes.

Watch FDR

All his life, he loved to do that. All of a sudden, there he was, crippled in a day when it was a very difficult thing to be crippled.

Related Books

- Project management in construction.
- Crime
- Pyramids of Montauk - explorations in consciousness
- Lutely beautiful containers - the ABCs of creative container gardens
- Understanding indoor air quality