Hittite Monuments

In 1892 he finally settled in Cairo, where he rented a house and dedicated himself to perfecting his command of Arabic and studying Islam as well as Arab customs and traditions. IRAQ was launched in 1932 by the newly founded British School of Archaeology in Iraq Gertrude Bell Memorial , since 2007 known as the British Institute for the Study of Iraq, by whom copyright is held. Their restoration was undertaken by a German conservator at the National Museum in Aleppo.

Tell Halaf

The Halaf potters used different sources of clay from their neighbours, and they achieved outstanding elaboration and elegance of design with their superior quality ware. Among the basalt rubble from the Tell Halaf Museum were fragments belonging to monuments that following the partition of the finds had remained in Aleppo.

Tell Halaf

Even in prehistoric times and before the invention of writing, Syria recorded in the amazing pottery of Tell Halaf circa 7000 BC onward , the awakening of the artistic spirit in mankind and their early attempts to express themselves in images, patterns and shapes.
