

Rural development strategy for the 1990s.

Rural Development Commission - Rural Development: A strategy for poverty alleviation in India

Description: -

-Rural development strategy for the 1990s.

-

Policy information series Rural development strategy for the 1990s.

Notes: Cover title.

This edition was published in 1994

Filesize: 54.810 MB

Tags: #Rural #Development #Strategy

Rural Development

A brief account of technologies which are low cost, energy-efficient and environment-friendly as well as appropriate and sustainable for application in rural areas is presented in the Appendix I. The objective of the scheme is to provide a minimum of 100 days unskilled employment to adult members of rural families.

Rural Development: A strategy for poverty alleviation in India

Experiences of many countries suggest that technological development fuelled by demand has a higher dissemination rate.

Rural Development: A strategy for poverty alleviation in India

BRILL's mainly English language publications include book series, individual monographs and encyclopaedias as well as journals. Suggestions Although concerted efforts have been initiated by the Government of India through several plans and measures to alleviate poverty in rural India, there still remains much more to be done to bring prosperity in the lives of the people in rural areas.

Rural development strategy for the 1990s, Rural Development Commission

By the end of 2009, all villages having 1000 habitants will be connected with newly constructed roads. Nha, in , 2017 7.

Rural development strategy for the 1990s, Rural Development Commission

Appropriate rural technology focuses mainly on those technologies which are simple and within the reach of the ordinary people for their own benefit and the benefit of their community and harness the local or regional capacity to meet local needs without increasing dependence on external factors. Agriculture, handicrafts, fisheries, poultry, and diary are the primary contributors to the rural business and economy.

Rural Development

However, lifting of food grains for the scheme from Food Corporation of India godowns has been slow. The in India is the apex body for formulating policies, regulations and acts pertaining to the development of the rural sector.

Rural Development Strategy

The expansion of agriculture and cattle not only resulted in a transition from tropical forest to cultivated area, but also translated into an ongoing process of destruction of remaining forest patches and soil degradation within the colonized areas. The main aim of public transport policy should be to increase effectiveness through transforming bus companies from service providers to managers of a range of mobility services. To develop rural area as whole in terms of culture, society, economy, technology and health.

Related Books

- Petit manuel de combat contre le Front national
- Carlins i liberals a Lleida - 1833-1840
- Jian ming cheng wei ci dian
- Byte me - Haydukes guide to computer-generated revenge
- Section C-C, surface and subsurface correlations of some Upper Cretaceous and Tertiary rocks from th