Collaboration for Community Health

Family Nurturing Center, as Lead Agency for the Boston Family Engagement Network BFEN , proposes to expand our reach to families and improve outcomes for children 0-5 by building upon our citywide peer-to-peer parent leadership model, with a focus on young children's social-emotional health.

Infographic: Why Hospital

With that goal, we thought carefully about each of our clinical service lines: Are we the best at this service line? Communication and dialogue among hospitals, health departments and other local partners can lead to concurrence and a prioritization based on the community's risks to health and remedies to prevent disease.

Bringing a Community Hospital Back to Life: The Story of Sonoma West Medical Center

This program will be housed in BAGLY's innovative and culturally responsive LGBTQ+ youth community center. As collaborative relationships between hospitals and local health departments become the new normal, opportunities abound. In direct response to challenges facing families two funding opportunities were released through the Collaboration for Community Health.
