The Eucharist: our most radical political act

At church he would be just an equal among equals because the Eucharist would strip him of his higher social status. And incoherent Catholics receiving holy communion make for a Eucharistically incoherent and thus evangelically diminished Church.

Joe Biden refused Holy Communion by South Carolina Catholic priest

Isaac asks his father why there is a fire but no lamb for a burnt offering.

Eucharist denial to Catholic politicians over abortion

Thus, the Jews never accepted the Christ or the Trinity from which it proceeds.

Should politicians be refused communion?

Thus in the light of the Eucharist, Christians came to see that religion is not merely data; faith and imagination are required.

The Eucharist throughout history: A timeline

Every indication exists that this result was anticipated. It is the continued willing surrender of himself to the will of the Father. Christ again became just a good man 32 ff.

The Vision of the Eucharist Given to the Fatima Visionaries

We might say that faith was saved but what Christ told us to do was lost. Such a person is no longer living in communion with the Church, so allowing this person to receive Holy Communion would also be a lie. To suggest that the Eucharist is our most radical political act is to observe that our lives are oriented by our concern for the common good.
