Agege local government as a case study, domestic violence as occurred mostly in areas of gender inequality and child abuse in this area of the state, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Aminu Tambuwal, has promised that the house will toughen the law against domestic violence and gender discrimination in Nigeria.

What is Population Health?

The qualitative designs used in these studies do not establish causal connections between particular discontinuities and student learning. Study limitations Generalization of our findings is limited because of its case study nature and the small number of health zones in which the study took place.
