In addition, if need be, the timeframe can be reduced substantially using fast-track procedures such as shortening the time limits for approval or taking decisions at teleconferences. For instance, in emergency situations such as a crisis, decisions are more likely to be approved by the Supervisory Board in a teleconference, which may include the Governing Council or be held back to back with a Governing Council teleconference where the decision is adopted. These fast-track procedures allow the ECB to take decisions within a day, when necessary.
In 2014, the Supervisory Board adopted a Code of Conduct to provide a general framework of high ethical standards that the members and other participants in Supervisory Board meetings are to observe. The Code establishes specific procedures to deal, among other things, with potential conflicts of interest, private financial transactions, and cooling-off periods.
In substance, the Code of Conduct requires Supervisory Board members to comply with the rules on private financial transactions adopted by the ECB for its own staff. However, for Supervisory Board members who are representatives of NCAs, compliance with and monitoring of rules on private financial transactions are subject to any applicable national procedural rules. At the same time, the Code requires Supervisory Board members to disclose in writing any situation that could cause or could be perceived as causing a conflict of interest (those members will not participate in any deliberation or vote in relation to the situation). A high-level Ethics Committee has been established to support and advise Supervisory Board members in the application of ethics rules.
ECB	The supervisor and its staff have credibility based on their professionalism and integrity. There are rules on how to avoid conflicts of interest and on the appropriate use of information obtained through work, with sanctions in place if these are not followed.
Description and findings re ECB	The ECB's Ethics framework, which applies to all ECB staff, was revised in 2014. The revised framework strengthens, in particular, the rules on avoiding conflicts of interest, as well as the rules governing gifts and hospitality, private financial transactions, professional secrecy, and cooling-off periods. It also establishes a Compliance and Governance Office, which advises all ECB staff and monitors compliance.
In order to strengthen its impartiality and reputation, ECB banking supervision adopted a broad concept of conflicts of interests, and ethics rules have been laid down in order to avoid conflicts of interests during the recruitment phase and during ECB employment. In addition, restrictions have been established to avoid conflicts of interest arising from subsequent employment activities.
To avoid the inappropriate use of information obtained through work, strict rules have been laid down regarding private financial transactions. Members of staff are also prohibited, even after their duties have ceased, from making unauthorized disclosure of any information that they have received in the performance of their duties, unless that

The purpose of § 455 is obviously to inform judges of what matters they must consider in deciding whether to recuse themselves in a given case. The court further concluded, however, that Judge Collins had forgotten about Loyola's interest by the time the declaratory judgment suit came to trial in January, 1982. And said Forrest, as God almighty is my Judge I believe him an innocent Man.
