Policy Issues & Campaigns

Figures 3 through 8 illustrate the distribution of black homebuyers in these six metropolitan areas in relation to the geographic distribution of the black population.

Teaching Resources

Moreover, the authors provide the policy solutions and actions to be taken by Federal, State and local governments, as well as the development, finance and property management industries.

Master of Public Policy (MPP)

Lift the burden of taxation from property improvements which we ought to want to encourage, generally, and not piecemeal by tax abatements and other subsidies and remove the potential to provide by sitting on land for years or decades.

Master of Public Administration

Altruism, nonprofits and economic theory. No political forces were pressing for an expansion of government, particularly.

Racial Disparities in Home Appreciation

The following proposed sections represent inappropriate and unnecessary intrusions into the rights of tenants to determine the structure of their organizations: §§ 245. The safety of students, staff and visitors is paramount and major changes to delivery or services may have to be made in circumstances of a pandemic including Covid-19, epidemic or local health emergency.

Subscribe to InProgress Subscribe Despite the economic and political gains that African Americans have achieved since the passage of the Civil Rights Act, significant disparities still exist between African Americans and non-Hispanic whites in terms of access to homeownership, quality education, and employment, among other assets. Centuries of displacement have destabilized Black communities and undermined their access to opportunity. While Native Americans have long been the primary target of government-sponsored land redistribution, other communities of color—especially Black communities—have experienced and continue to experience displacement as well.
