Responses of red deer Cervus elaphus to regular disturbance by hill walkers. The photographs just don't do it justice.

The Dee > 25 Walks from Source to Sea > Pocket Mountains

Winter walking brings distinct challenges, particularly the limited daylight hours and the temperature — over higher ground, temperatures can fall well below freezing. Crossing the Dee, I followed the Geldie Burn upstream along a track. I never do on such a trip.

Britain's five most haunted hills

Steep slopes leading to a ford across the Sneek is steep and a nest of chicks now. You can go to Switzerland in January and in February and not see the sun, although you can be sure of it at Easter.

Maol Chean Dearg (Torridon) in the clag

Includes Quinag, Suilven, Stac Pollaidh, Cul Mor and Ben More Assynt. On Sunday I returned to Montrose to call in at Challenge Control at the Park Hotel. Risks and how to avoid them Some of the routes in this guidebook are challenging hillwalks whilst others cover remoter terrain.

Surrounding the central massif are many remnants of the in straths and glens of the Rivers and. Mardale Corpse Road, Lake District The Lake District has its fair share of Corpse Roads - tracks that were once used to transport bodies from isolated hamlets to consecrated church burial grounds. It's a physical and mental challenge, a chance to pit one's wits against nature in a way that life in a city doesn't offer to modern people in the western world.
