Our History

Angers had seen great changes since 1829, when Mother Euphrasia had come with five sisters to found the house. As the solemn Te Deum swelled in gladness through the Vatican Basilica, its joyous strains were echoed and reechoed in quiet chapels found in virtually all the large cities of the world.

SAINT MARY EUPHRASIA PELLETIER

C'est une sainte de l'Église catholique romaine, béatifiée par Pie XI en 1933 et canonisée par Pie XII le 2 mai 1940. If she wanted to be a nun, let her go to Carmel or to the newly-founded congregation of the Sacred Heart, and they would not object, but the Refuge was out of the question- and that was final. Eventually he did appoint a delegate but he, himself, would have nothing to do with the convent, henceforth.

Mary Euphrasia and Good Shepherd

Of course, they could not become Refuge nuns-the stipulations of the Founder with regard to postulants put that out of the question, so they entered elsewhere, in such congregations as would receive them. Teresa, and one of her classmates-Marie Angelique Dernee-was just about to enter the Carmelite convent at Tours.

The Good Shepherd Sisters

While enquiring after the health of the sufferer she would push open a window to admit God's air and sunshine.

Congregation of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd

The resulting scandal caused a re-evaluation of the Order's work in Ireland.

Paul merged to become the Province of Mid-North America.

Saint of the Day

Today, Good Shepherd NZ continues the work begun by the Sisters. The Congregation of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd was founded by Rose Virginie Pelletier in , France, in 1835. For two years she remained in the novitiate, being formed to the religious life, studying and absorbing the history and work of her Order.
