Big data analysis of local government 3.0: Focusing on Gyeongsangbuk

It can be referring to the associations as black boxes that are not questioned anymore. To test the capability of the framework in analysing and guiding the development of local OGD portals, a case study of Chinese province-level OGD portals has been carried out. For the multi-site, multi-institution research context of technical interventions in the urban context, databases consolidate data from different social settings, sites and technologies.

A prioritization

The rule codes provide institutional categories and are inductive concepts arising from the framework; see Figure. Very minimal wear and tear.
