Part II deals with China's foreign policy and economic modernization, and examines policies in the same set of institutions. Over the longer term, the contest to set the rules of global dealings will be determined primarily by which country—the United States or China—has more hard power.

Iran, Russia, China, Turkey celebrate 'collapse' of US

The United States generally prefers a albeit one with special privileges for some states, especially itself that is at least somewhat mindful of individual rights and certain core liberal values democratic rule, individual freedom, rule of law, market-based economies, and so on. While the largest proportion of its activities and members concentrate in the area of Russian, AATSEEL encompasses all Slavic and East European languages, literatures, linguistics and cultures.

The Choice Between a U.S.

AATSEEL also publishes an annual membership directory. However, Russia, China, Iran and increasingly Turkey have all awaited the period when the world would become multi-polar again. If we are honest with ourselves, we have to acknowledge that Washington sometimes thinks it is perfectly okay for might to make right and for winners to take all.
