In the Turkish police, which, as forming part of the civil administration of Turkey, will remain distinct from the Turkish armed force, officers or officials supplied by the various Allied or neutral Powers shall collaborate, under the direction of the Turkish Government, in the organisation the command and the training of the said police. The manufacture of arms, munitions and war material, including aircraft and parts of aircraft of every description, shall take place only in the factories or establishments authorised by the Inter-Allied Commission referred to in Article 200.

How the Treaty of Versailles and German Guilt Led to World War II

The Commission shall publish annually detailed reports on its work, its methods and its proposals for the financial reorganisation of Turkey, as well as regarding its accounts for the period. The treaty was made by the allied powers with Germany not even allowed to attend the meetings to discuss peace.

Treaty of Saint

The Convention imposed, for the first time, certain obligations for regulating the trade in and production of drugs, on the contracting parties. In November 1918, the won the by a slim margin.
