An examination of some basic sexual concepts: The evidence of human hermaphroditism. Researchers find SOCRs are highest for monozygotic twins; and SOCRs for dizygotic twins, siblings, and randomly-selected pairs do not significantly differ from one another ;. Surely workers do not spring from the ground to arrive at the marketplace, fresh and ready to sell their labor power to the capitalist.

Social reproduction (video)

Psychoanalytic research and clinical studies discussed earlier strongly support and predict the profound contributions early parenting experiences make to parental efficacy, just as family research has underscored the importance of the current marital relationship on parental, especially paternal, involvement. They point out that most victims are women of childbearing age, saying this supports their hypothesis that rape derives from a desire
