And there were of course the carefully-chosen sentences which both justified his past and present conduct — but also preserved the future, though it is impossible to know whether, as Carlton suggests, he was already thinking about it: No one has been a more consistent opponent of Communism than I have for the last twenty-five years. Accordingly no lot shall be capable of being a forgery by reason of any damage or restoration work of any kind Including re-painting.

There is nothing petty or small in his position.

CHURCHILL, Winston. War Speeches

Canada occupies a unique position in the British Empire because of its unbreakable ties with Britain and its ever-growing friendship and intimate association with the United States. Churchill could not resist to enter into the historical minutiae which he enjoyed so much, starting his speech with a carefully-crafted theatrical effect: I have an announcement to make to the House arising out of the Treaty signed between this country and Portugal in the year 1373 between His Majesty King Edward III and King Ferdinand and Queen Eleanor of Portugal. Desperate as were the fortunes of the Empire in November, 1940, and as vast as were the additions to its strength during the year of 1941, there is not the slightest intimation in any of his utterances that he ever entertained the least doubt as to the ultimate outcome of the struggle in which the British peoples are engaged.

References in the catalogue entry to the condition report to damage or restoration are for guidance only and should be evaluated by personal inspection by the bidder or a knowledgeable representative. Likewise, Churchill adopted a benevolent attitude towards the Fascist dictatorship in Portugal established by Salazar in 1932, probably this time for strategic considerations, since the threat of a Communist take-over seemed remote, contrary to Spain.
