Homelessness Bill: 12 Nov 2001: House of Lords debates

Lead ammunition use creates multiple problems for which a straightforward solution exists, and that is to ban its use, and by so doing further catalyse the manufacture and sale of available non-toxic alternatives. And if the right to buy is not put in place, what will happen to the tenants? There is no prospect and no plan for the proper replacement of these homes. Unfortunately, this Bill does not bring us significantly closer to that.

New mna reports.

The noble and right reverend Lord, Lord Harries of Pentregarth, reminded us of the two duties of conservation and recreation in the parks. As a former councillor, I have seen the benefits of that legislation and the number of people who have been rehoused under it over the years.

I very warmly welcome the Bill this afternoon. If this is done, one can only question what requirements there will be for them to record applications made to them under the new provisions and their outcomes. But we have seen again and again that we currently have a Government who do not necessarily see themselves bound by international obligations.

Housing and Planning Bill: 2 Nov 2015: House of Commons debates

But this is an entirely subjective test, left to the opinion of the Minister, rather than an effective legal safeguard.

Residential Tenancies and Valuation Bill 2020: Second Stage

We need to build affordable housing and put an affordable housing scheme in place.

People who buy their homes take pride in them. This clause will also give applicants the right to obtain information about how their application is being handled and to ask for a review of key decisions by the authority. Perhaps the Minister will draw my story to the attention of his the , who I believe is chairing that committee.
