Fifty Meditations on the Passion

We need repetition of such a grand narrative, grand Truth, and we know it. I have to learn how to carry my own cross to my end which is forgiveness of my sins, and then my hope will be rewarded with my own Resurrection in the Trinity. I most profoundly humble myself before Thy Divine Majesty, and from out of the abyss of my sins and nothingness do I raise my voice in suppliant accents to implore Thy mercy.

Accompanying Jesus in His Passion and Death

And if this were practiced by at least some souls in each town or city, it seems to me that Jesus makes me understand that the Divine Justice would be partly placated, and his scourges would be partly stopped and, as it were, extinguished in these sad times of torment and bloodshed. And then we can say that we are in tune. As Jesus carries his cross, the Blessed Mother steps into the street for a final embrace and farewell.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST

Although it was a good refresher for me! We begin, with this first printing, the publication of more than 20 handwritten volumes of sublime revelations which, always excepting the judgments of the Holy Church, we believe to have been given by Our Lord Jesus Christ to a soul, a dearest daughter and disciple of His, who is the pious author of the Hours of the Passion. Each chapter was short only about one or two pages and yet at the end of each chapter, I found myself putting the book down. So much is not required of you, O devout Christian, but only that you should daily spend half, or at least a quarter of an hour, in attentive consideration of some point of the Passion of Jesus.

The Twenty

But we are not to inflict amnesia on ourselves, because we know as Christians that the shadows of Good Friday will yield to the dawn of Easter morning.
