Very frustrating and highly unrealistic.

Extreme

We do a feelings-swap, where we avoid feeling sad or lonely or afraid or inadequate, and feel angry instead.

Extremes (1980)

Prior to the new study there was a decade-long debate about a possible increase of as an. The European heat waves from summer 2003 are estimated to have caused 30,000 excess deaths, due to heat stress and air pollution.

Extreme weather

Increasing frequency, intensity and duration of observed global heatwaves and warm spells. It makes no sense, and is quite a strain to sit through as the viewer is forced to try and put it together, not unlike watching something out of focus.

Extremes (1971)

Cold waves that bring unexpected freezes and frosts during the growing season in mid-latitude zones can kill plants during the early and most vulnerable stages of growth.

Extremes Quotes (34 quotes)

We demonstrate that their probability of occurrence depends on warming rate, rather than global warming level, and is thus pathway-dependent. Additionally, high population density in cities exacerbates human loss in many extreme weather events.
