Chapter 18: The Morals and Behaviour of the Holy Prophet

He used to brush his teeth frequently and washed his blessed hands both before and after meals. Unlike grants and despotic rulers, the Holy Prophet of Islam never looked at those who were addressing him with half-closed eyes.

Chapter 18: The Morals and Behaviour of the Holy Prophet

The following is the tradition: One day the Holy Prophet of Islam came to the house of his daughter, Fatima, and told her that he was very tired and asked her to cover him with his cloak.

Chapter 18: The Morals and Behaviour of the Holy Prophet

The Holy Prophet was justly angered when he observed a violation of God's commands and of Islam and was most pleased at the good deeds. May he accept our respectful greetings as well as the greetings of you, our sisters and brothers in Islam.
