Maritime Year: EU priorities and actions

Recommendations: Governments should fully respect the rights to freedom of expression and access to information, and only restrict them as international standards permit.

Human Rights Dimensions of COVID

According to the portal for statistics, STATISTA, there are more than 51,400 merchant ships as of 1 January 2016 operating around the world. It also cooperates directly with national coast guard organisations and other EU agencies such as Frontex and the European Fisheries Control Agency EFCA. The scale and severity of the COVID-19 pandemic clearly rises to the level of a public health threat that could justify restrictions on certain rights, such as those that result from the imposition of quarantine or isolation limiting freedom of movement.

In conclusion, the need for concerted global intervention to maintain the livability of Earth and increase resilience in the face of the rapidly changing availability of resources will be explored and the clear need for a unified collaborative approach to such intervention reiterated. Moreover, the UK Bills of Lading Act of 1855 applies in Cyprus by means of Articles 19 and 29 of the Courts of Justice Law of 1960 Law No. Rights-based legal safeguards should govern the appropriate use and handling of personal health data.
