Shelved nuclear power plans leave UK government's energy policy in hot water

In the late 1990s, nuclear power plants contributed around 25% of total annual electricity generation in the UK, but this has gradually declined as old plants have been shut down and ageing-related problems affect plant availability. The hydrogen bomb increased the threat to Britain.

Nuclear weapons of the United Kingdom

By 2004, coal use in power stations had fallen to 50. The McMahon Act was amended, paving the way for the MDA. The Manhattan Project Heritage Preservation Association.

Iran Does Not Have Nuclear Weapons, But Here's Why Its Program Is at the Heart of the Crisis

The Atomic Energy Commission had to both encourage the privatization of nuclear energy and regulate it. The last Project E warheads, including the Mark 57 nuclear depth bombs and those used by the BAOR, were withdrawn in July 1992.
