I always supplement with instructions online before I go anywhere, so it wasn't really a problem.

60 Hikes Within 60 Miles: Sacramento: Including Davis, Roseville, and Auburn by Jordan Summers

A combination of data collected by the author's hand held GPS and TOPO, these maps are the quality products one expects from Menasha Ridge Press.

Its striking theme features stylized ammunition and starkly contrasting white limestone that holds black-granite panels bearing the names of missing or dead California veterans of that war. I use this book to give me ideas rather than be the only authority on the area, so I usually check out other online maps and satellite images before I take an extended hike. Jordan Summers's book is a good way to explore what is available.

Hikes range from a pleasant 1. As friends asked Summers to arrange and guide them on trips, it seemed like an appropriate time to take on some new skills.
