Online Dementia Training for Caregivers

If you've ever found yourself forgetting where you left your keys or blanking out information on important tests then you have probably wished that your memory was a bit better.

What every teacher should know about ... memory

Journal of Educational Psychology, 106 1, 58-68. There are multiple external programs such as Bradley, LaMaze, Gamper, or Hypnobirthing. The most plausible explanation that the authors offered for this surprising finding was that women with high levels of anxiety tend to expect more pain and were relieved when labor was not as painful as anticipated.
