Another trend that emerges from this table is that for both boys and girls aged 21 and under the number of them marrying each year increases steadily as they approach the age of 21, with the largest number of them marrying at 21. Download this image General Marriage Rate GMR in England and Wales, 1930-2010 The overriding trend since 1970 has been a decline in both the number of marriages and the marriage rates. For example, 22 per cent of marriages in 1970 had ended in divorce by the 15th wedding anniversary, whereas 33 per cent of marriages in 1995 had ended after the same period of time.

The England & Wales birth records

The 36 average figure might be a bit misleading, the median age is slightly younger as shown by the chart below — late 20s and early 30s are when most women get married! And nearer home, the Catholic Archbishop of Dublin in his recent directive to the priests of the Dublin diocese says: The mere fact that the girl is pregnant is not ever a sufficient reason for marriage;.
