Reflections of a University President
William G. As we enter the 21st century, new organizational agents acting as brokers are emerging as important facilitators of systemic change. The global anti-apartheid movement was very successful in creating awareness of the liberation struggle in South Africa, and in contributing to the downfall of the apartheid government.

Together, their voices form a deafening chorus. Max is best known as founder and editor of the Afrikaans newspaper Vrye Weekblad, and for his weekly television report on the Truth Commission and the programme Special Assignment. And it's all reported with the straight-shooting, uncompromising, outspoken frankness that has won him admiration and got him into trouble with the new government as well as the old.

Beginning with a time line tracing efforts to achieve equity and excellence in higher education from the American Revolution to the early Cold War years, this narrative reveals the halting, episodic progress in broadening access across the dividing lines of gender, race, religion, ethnicity, and socioeconomic status. Gender-based violence feeds on shame and silence but in this extraordinary collection, brave women reclaim their power and summon the courage in others to do the same. His story takes you on a remarkable journey, from the contradictions of history to the triumphs and troubles of the present, from the halls of parliament to the desert of Namibia, from burning townships to the headquarters of covert operations.

It also provides an overview of the international scene to show that UK higher education is leading the world in this approach to the development of a higher education system. Starting with missionary penetration during the early nineteenth century, the volume outlines interventions by the colonial state in medicine and public health, and the continued resilience of indigenous healing in the face of this.

Cape Town : David Philip. What did they think, looking back, were the main constituents of successful leadership and management? Author: Mamphela Ramphele Publisher: Tafelberg ISBN: UOM:39015082655450 Category: History Page: 341 View: 922 A penetrating look at the South African transition and what is wrong with it, by a prominent commentator When I was appointed vice- chancellor of the University of Cape Town UCT in July 2018, I was very aware of this metaphorical tightrope. The twenty-seven interviews presented here consider both the ontological status and the representation of the self.
