Some standards are mandated by statutes in some jurisdictions for licensing, accreditation, or equity purposes. This involves a wide range of textual, graphical, and sometimes hardware elements that improve the clarity, intuitiveness, cohesiveness and completeness of a program's user interface. Schools, hospitals, correctional facilities, and other licensed or accredited institutions may be required to meet these standards prior to opening their doors.

Math

This is further discussed in the practice.

Stroustrup: Programming

How does this architectural project fit into this broad picture? Possibly way more than you ever wanted to know about me Siegfried Zig Engelmann 2005. Collective code ownership may lead to better member backup, greater distribution of knowledge and learning, shared responsibility of the code, greater code quality, and reduced rework.
